Itinerary and Description of Services:

Day 1: Cusco (3,350m // 10,990feet)– km82 - Wayllabamba (3,000m // 9,842feet)

- Early morning bus departure from Hotel - headed to Km82 of the Cusco- Machupicchu train line. Where we shall begin our hike along the Urubamba River until reaching the first archaeological site Llaqtapata-Cusichaca, where we partake of a delicious lunch. Subsequently we climb until reaching the village of Huayllabamba (3000 m // 9,842feet), where our first campsite lies.
- Number of hours of trekking: 6h
- Lodging: Overnight camping site.
- LD

Day 2: Wayllabamba (3,000m // 9,842feet) – Paqaymayo (3,600m // 11,811feet).

- After a wholesome breakfast we begin the climb to the first pass (Warmiwañusca 4200 m // 13,779feet), which is the highest point on the Inca Trail. The ascent takes most of the morning, traversing diverse ecological levels where we can observe the wide variety of Orchids and bird species that inhabit this magical landscape.
- From the summit of the pass, the second pass can be observed along with the Inca archaeological complex of Runcuracay and our campsite in the valley below where we shall be arriving after a 2-hour descent. The campsite affords a beautiful view of the glaciers of the Verónica range (Cordillera Urubamba).
- Number of hours of trekking: 7h or 8h
- Lodging: Overnight camping site.
- BLD

Day 3: Paqaymayo - Wiñaywayna (2,650m // 8,694feet)

- This day is the most varied of our adventure, beginning with the climb to the second pass of Runcuracay (3,900m // 12,795feet) from where the snow capped summits of the Cordillera Vilcabamba are to be seen. This is followed by a two-hour descent that brings us to the fascinating Inca archaeological complex of Sayacmarca. After exploring this spectacular site, we continue along the original Inca Roadway; an astounding display of Waterfalls, Valleys, Canyons, Rivers and snow capped peaks like Salkantay –all of these viewed through the misty cloud forest-dazzle our eyes. We eventually reach the third Pass - Phuyupatamarca (3,600m // 11,811feet)- from where we catch our first glimpse of Machupicchu Mountain. A long descent brings us to our final campsite in Wiñaywayna, considered as one of the most beautiful of Inca sites.
- Number of hours of trekking: 6 hours
- Lodging: Overnight camping site.
- BLD

Day 4: Wiñaywayna - Machupicchu (2,450m // 8,070feet) – Cusco

- After breakfast we bid our porters farewell and continue on the final stretch to Intipunku, or Gateway of the Sun, where devotees of flora and fauna will find much to appreciate. From Intipunku we have our first and best view of the lost city of the Incas: The legendary Machupicchu (2400m // 8,038feet). We enjoy the tranquility of the Inca City visiting this marvelous site led by our Guide. The rest of the morning is free to explore the site on our own.
- In the afternoon we descend to Aguas Calientes and return by train to Cusco
- Train from town of Aguas Calientes - to Cusco
- Transfer from Train Station of San Pedro Cusco - to Hotel.
- Number of visiting hours in Machu Picchu: 5h to 6h

The price Includes:

- Transportation and excursions included in the program.
- The admission rates precluded in the program.
- First Class return train Fare Machupicchu to Cusco
- 3 breakfasts + 3 Lunches + 3 dinners and snacks.
